New features of the email template editor

To provide agency users with more options to better customize an email template, the email template editor has been enhanced with the following new features.

While creating or editing an email template on the following pages:

- AUI > Email tab > New > New template > Create email template page
- AUI > Email tab > Templates > a template > Edit email template page agency users can now:

- select a background image for the entire page or for a Button component.
- set Padding top and Padding bottom for an Image component or a Button component.

The screenshot shows two input fields for padding settings. The first field is labeled "Padding top" and contains the value "50" followed by "px". The second field is labeled "Padding bottom" and contains the value "30" followed by "px".

- drag and drop multiple components to create a multi-column layout. Only following component types support multi-column layout:
 - Image
 - Button
 - Text

To prevent cluttered formatting, agency users can preview how the layout appears on mobile devices.

- copy and paste a table from elsewhere into the email template while preserving the format. Note that to delete the entire table, agency users can select the entire table and press the Backspace key.
- choose a color for the text under the updated Social media icons including the newly added Instagram and TikTok.
